HEALTH SITUATION WELL IN HAND HERE

Only One Case of Meningitis
On Campus, Many Precautions Against Spread
Being Taken

As The Tiger goes to press the entire corps and those persons over the State who are interested in Clemson College are greatly disturbed over the quarantine that has been placed upon the student body of this college. In order that the many and varied rumors that have grown out of the present situation at this institution may be discarded and in order that interested persons may know the truth of the rumored prevalence of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis. The Tiger gives the latest possible information from the College infirmary as given by the physician in charge.

Only one case of Spinal Meningitis has developed on the Campus, that of Sanford Graham, who was taken sick Friday and died of the disease today.

The many rumors that a number of cases of this disease have developed on the campus are false. As a step of precaution against the spread of meningitis and other infectious diseases, throat cultures have been made of the entire student body, faculty, all hospital authorities and aids, all stenographers, barbers, and all persons who might come in close contact with members of the Clemson cadet corps. Suspected germ carriers found during this examination have all been isolated and are being given preventative treatment.

Although the present condition at Clemson is not grave enough to cause any great alarm, Dr. Milford and other physicians advise that all persons use frequently some reliable antiseptic solution as a throat and mouth wash and that the entire body system be kept in the proper condition.

The State Board of Health has stationed a man at Clemson and have assured college authorities that it will furnish all aid requested. This Board has approved all steps taken by Dr. Milford and states that his precautions are more elaborate than it would have asked.

CORPS MOURNS DEATH OF BELOVED CADET

J. W. Scruggs, Sophomore Is Taken by Pneumonia

Clemson's cadet corps was deeply saddened late last Saturday night by the untimely death, due to pneumonia, of Joseph Warren Scruggs, eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Scruggs, of Brevard, N. C., who was a member of the Sophomore Class. Cadet Scruggs matriculated at this institution last September after having attended North Carolina State during the session of '28-'29. Although the late student had been at Clemson only a short time, he had won a warm place in the hearts of all who knew

VANDY DECISIVELY BEATEN BY CODYMEN

Tigers Annex Win Over Conference Foe, 32 to 27

Led by their elongated Captain, Bob Jones, the Tigers out-fought and out-played the Commodores from Vanderbilt Friday night in a game replete with thrills to wit: 32-27.

Both teams fought with vicious tension to start the contest, but it was not until the final stanza that the Tigers began to unravel their tricks and combined speed, unerring shooting and assurance in passing to clinch the contest.

"Doodle" Thomas, the Tiger Mid-get, but nevertheless high scorer in Conference circles, was covered by Donald Cram, who prevented any substantial increase in "Doodle's" total of points, but brought to light the "Tiny Tiger's" ability to "feed" the ball to other players who could score.

The Tiger team palyed as a unit while Cram and Franklin, ponderous guard of the visitors, were constant threats by virtue of their superb defense.

DR. HENRY PHILLIPS SPEAKS IN CHAPEL FRIDAY

Dr. Henry D. Phillips, Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Columbia, S. C., will be the chapel speaker on Friday of this week. Regular Thursday chapel was changed to Friday in order that the corps might hear Dr. Phillips.

him. His numerous friends and loved ones were surprised as well as greatly saddened to learn of the death of Scruggs as he was seemingly in good health up until two days before his untimely passing.

Surviving the deceased cadet are his mother and father, and his paternal grandparents, all of whom are of Brevard.

Funeral services, which were held at the Brevard Baptist Church at 2 P. M. Monday, were attended by six members of the Clemson student body. Rev. Paul Hartsell, of Brevard was assisted in conducting the services by Rev. J. K. Goode, of Clemson. The body was laid to rest in Gillespie Cemetery.

TERRIERS DEFEATED BY TIGER QUINTET

Wofford Basketeers Lose 38 to 16 in Second Half Slump

The Clemson Tigers defeated the Wofford Terriers on the latter's court last Saturday night by the score of 38 to 16. The Terriers fought hard during the first half and the score was 9-all until a few minutes before the period ended. The Tigers then scored a field goal to forge ahead by two points.

The Tigers drew first blood when Hewitt raced down the floor and made a dazzling shot. his period was marked with quick passing, brilliant speed and a number of quick shots for both teams.

At first, it seemed that both teams were pretty evenly matched. However, in the second period Wofford appeared to lose it spirit and snap. Clemson continued her deadly, machine-like maneuvers and time after time made long-distance goals, while the Terriers seemed frustrated and unable to get going. Clemson kept possession of the ball most of the time.

There were no outstanding stars on the Clemson team, all played an excellent game. Smith and Capt. Jones were the high scorers, each ringing up nine points. Lester contributed six points towards victory for the Tigers.

Johnson, Wofford's lofty center, was the outstanding man for the Terriers. He accounted for six of his team-mates scores.

CADETS CONTRIBUTE TO LEE SHRINE FUND

The Clemson student body responded generously to the appeal made by Prof. Sherrill in chapel Thursday noon on behalf of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation. The exact amount contributed by the students was $35.42.

The Foundation has undertaken to restore the old Lee home on the Potomac and convert it into a national shrine. Last year this organization raised fifty thousand dollars and took over the titles to the estate. The present drive is for the purpose of raising the remaining one hundred and ninety thousand dollars due before the restoration of the historic homestead can be completed.

SOPHOMORE HOP IS GREAT SUCCESS

Jungaleer Orchestra Fills Hall with Delightful Music

The Sophomore Hop held here last Friday evening, January 31, was acclaimed as one of the best dances of the year. The music was furnished by Pert Hodges' red hot Jungaleers who got into step at the very first minute and became better and better as the evening progressed. The floor of the Field House was bordered by palms and other greenhouse plants. Everything was arranged for a successful dance.

Many beautiful girls from all over the South were present as guests of the following cadets:

Corps Mourns Second Death In Less Than Week, Freshman Passes After Five Days Illness

Clemson College was again saddened this morning by the death of Cadet W. Sanford Graham, who has been suffering since last Friday from an attack of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis. Graham was member of the Freshman Class, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Graham of Loris, S. C.

Although the late cadet had been a student at this institution only a short time he had made a splendid record and enjoyed a large group of friends, who mourn the death of a fine young man cut down just as he was preparing to enter the portal of Life.

As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is supposed hte body will be taken to Loris, where services will be held.

The death of young Graham was the second to occur in the corps within four days, J. W. Scruggs, a Sophomore, having passed away last Sunday morning.

The Ways and Means Committee of the state legislature will hold hearings this week on a bill introduced by the Agricultural Committee, with their unanimous approval, that calls for a $250,000 agricultural building at Clemson.

This bill authorizes the college to borrow $250,000 from the Sinking Fund Commission to be paid back over a period of years by appropriation. Dr. Sikes will meet with the Ways and Means Committee in Columbia this week to make known to them the dire necessity of this building at Clemson.

If this bill is passed it will mean that a woeful situation at Clemson will be overcome. Agriculture is South Carolina's basic industry, and Clemson College is the fountain head of agricultural knowledge of the state. The whole of South Carolina's scientific agricultural future rests on Clemson. This is an economic responsibility placed on the college which it cannot adequately meet without necessary facilities.

At persent, the teaching division of the Agricultural Department is housed in the library, the Main building, and in various other college buildings in crowded ill-suited quarters. With an Agricultural Building the space in the Library would be used for the Museum recently started here to grow and the space in the Main building would be available for the Arts ad Science Department which is at present using five attic rooms which have been condemned from a health standpoint by the state health authorities.

The Extension Department which has revolutionized agricultural practices in the state, is housed in an ancient and inadequate residence on the campus, and its valuable work in disseminating scientific information and service over the state has long been hampered by its cramped quarters.

The Research Department which furnishes the material for the Extension Service to broadcast, is scattered over the campus. The laboratories, the most vital requirement for research work, that this department uses are mostly those used by students and are not adapted to research work.

Clemson is essentially an agricultural college and without an Agricultural Building, it is not in a position to encourage many of its best students to enter the agricultural field. With a new Engineering Building there has been a steady increase in the number of high-grade students in these courses. Students naturally drift towards those departments which offer the best facilities for their work. With over one-half of South Carolina's total population engaged in agriculture, the state needs the best brains of its young manhood, to insure its agricultural and economic future.

EDITORIAL

With this issue, The Tiger passes into the hands of a new staff. It is with no small feeling of fear and inability and no without realization of the splendid record made by our predecessors that we enter upon our great responsibility. As the weekly publication of and by the student body of Clemson College, The Tiger is a very important organ. This great institution ranks second to none of its class in the South. Its student body, its faculty, its administration, and, therefore its graduates are unexcelled in character and ability. In lieu of these undeniable facts which are true of our school, the new staff holds as its one great aim the presentation of the college news and views that will reflect nothing but credit upon the institution and student body that it represents.

Just as our initial effort goes to press, the entire cadet corps and those persons over the entire state who are interested in Clemson are in a worried frenzy over the invasion that the dread disease, meningitis, which has during the past few months taken a great toll of lives from this section, has made upon Clemson. Those who are in authority and have the interest of the student body at heart have deemed it wise that all cadets be forbidden to leave the campus. This recommendation met the absolute approval of the State Board of Health. This board is composed of men who are capable of making thorough investigation of such conditions as the one existing now over this and other states. These men are appointed by our state government and are endowed with the power to command that which they deem best for the health of the public. It is indeed hard to abide by a quarantine; but when we realize that it is not only our individual life that is endangered by an unconquered and dreadful disease but also the lives of many, no sane person will disregard those rules and words of advice that are issued by persons of deserved authority.

SOPHS AND RATS STAGE SNOW BATTLE

Both Classes Battle Hard for Supremacy

Clemson had its second coat of snow this winter during the past week. Starting Tuesday morning, and continuing through the night, the snow formed a mantle over the campus. The historic buildings presented a picturesque scene against the background of white. On the arrival of the sun Wednesday, the full luster of the snow's gems was brought out.

Chief among the things snow brings to Clemson besides snow cream, broken window panes, numerous falls and wet feet is the battle of battles between the dignified sophomores and the rats. At dinner Wednesday the rats "thrust a challenge into the teeth" of the sophs. The challenge was no sooner issued than accepted. Bowman field became the scene of a struggle. What the sophs lacked in number they made up for in valor. The battle commenced with a rush. The left flank of the sophomore, was repulsed by the first yeomen. But this was not the case in another part of the field, for the sophs with all the daring of "The Four Hundred" scored a great victory over their fighting opponents who reluctantly retreated toward the Y. The two conquering forces then came to the rescue of their hard-pressed brothers.

It is no easy matter to predict what the outcome might have been if the call for classes had not brought to an end the struggle.

THINK

January fourteenth at the Chapel hour, we were entertained by four Negro singers, students of the Voorhees school. Their singing was very good—perhaps the best of its kind any of us had ever heard.

Negroes who go to the Voorhees school go there for one purpose—to learn, and to put into practical application the facts that are given them.

Where unskilled workmanship is required, the Negro is not excelled. More than that, he is NOT afraid of work.

Genius, by a well-known formula, is nine-tenths perspiration. This should have an especial meaning to those of us who dream of the proverbial white-collar jobs. A picture of a Negro leisurely riding by in an expensive car while a white man, a diploma from one of our large colleges in his pocket, uses a pick and shovel on that same road at the same time would not be a particularly attractive one. But the thing happens, and it will continue to happen so long as we dodge work and rely on our superior intelligence to get for us the things of life that are worth while.

Thoughts on this subject are not wasted.

A new year has just begun. A new semester is just beginning. That is something to think on.

To most of us the beginning of a new period of work brings the question, "Shall I, or, shall I not make this the most successful period of my life?"

If the decision is affirmative, the resolution is not kept, we are weaker and have less faith in ourselves for our inconstancy. This is the usual rule. And resolutions are usually failures for the reason that they cover too much ground.

For the old resolution, "I shall make this semester's work at Clemson my best and most successful."

ROMAIN SMITH

Thomas, the smallest man on the Tiger squad, has been a problem for the defense of many Southern court aggregations this season. Doodle is expected to hit his fastest stride at the Conference Tournament in Atlanta.

The Big Mentor has in Romain Smith a man that he can call on to annex needed points and to stop the opposition by his speedy floor work.

INTERESTING FACTS AND WORLD NEWS

Cost of Government

The relative costs of running our federal, state, and local government in 1890 and in 1926 give us some idea of where our taxes go. In 1890 the governmental expenditures were: Federal—$291,000,000; State—$77,000,000; local—$487,000,000. In 1926 the expenditures in millions State—1,646; local 6,141.

Navies

There are only 62 battleships in five great navies of the world. The United States has 18, the British Empire 20, Japan 10, France 9, and Italy 5. The upkeep of our 18 battle ships costs us $40,000,000 a year. Each vessel carries some 1,200 men, nearly one-fourth of our navy personnel being on these ships. A battleship is just three times as costly as a cruiser, their abolition would not impair the national security, and $40,000,000 a year could be saved. The airplae has made this type of ship about as obsolete as the dodo.

Aeronautics

There are great opportunities for young college graduates in the field of aviation. Many pamphlets as descriptive letters have been sent to the Tiger. Any senior who is interested in this line of work might be able to obtain some valuable information if he cares to see the feature editor. Some of the sub-industries are as follows: (1) design, manufacture, and sale of engines; (2) design, manufacture, and sale of aeroplanes; (3) operation of planes for service or for local taxi service; (4) operation on mail or passenger routes; (5) operation of commercial airports; (6) flying as a profession; (7) manufacture and sale of carburetors, pontoon floats, spruce lumber, linen fabric, or any of the hundreds of aeronautical accessories; (8) teaching students to fly.

Welding

The extent to which welding is being used by the electrical manufacturers in the construction of large equipment is illustrated by the spider, made by the Westinghouse Company.

It is to be a rotor for a 45,000 Kv-a. alternating generator, attached to a vertical water wheel running at 150 rpm. The rotor is to be constructed entirely of heavy steel slabs and rolled steel shapes and the joints are made by electric arc-welding. This piece of apparatus weighs 60,000 pounds, is 16 feet in diameter, and 4 feet 4 inches in width.

Building

Congress has already authorized appropriations of $248,000,000 for buildings throughout the states and $75,000,000 for structures to be erected in the national capital. It is estimated that an additional $175,000,000 will be requested during the present session of congress. Only $1,500,000 is asked for by the bill, now pending in Congress, providing for the establishment of a National Department of Education.

Boy Scout Birthday

The Boy Scouts of America will celebrate its twentieth anniversary February 7 to the 13, with emphasis on its actual birthday date, February 8. The organization of Boy Scouts was started in England in 1908 by General Baden-Powell of Gilwell, the hero of Mafeking.

MISS DOGGETT IS ON ALUMNI COMMITTEE

Miss Marguerite Doggett, librarian at Clemson has been made a member of the general committee for the annual reunion of graduates and former students of Rollins College which will be one of the features during the Founders' Week February 24.

Miss Doggett is one of the most active members of the alumni of that Florida institution. She was graduated from Rollins with the class of 1910.

Frontiers of telephony— old and new

Yesterday the natural course of telephone expansion was to penetrate the nation's frontiers, building new lines and adding new subscribers.

Today finds many new "frontiers" for telephone expansion—among them the homes of present subscribers. Upstairs and downstairs, wherever needed, additional telephones are being installed. People are learning that there is added utility in convenient communication.

This new field of activity was conceived by commercial development men of the Bell System. Just another example of forward planning to make telephone service more valuable.

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

DEDICATED TO J AND G

A kiss was man's first co-operative movement.

When you kissed the old fashioned girl you didn't get anything but the flavor of romance. Nowadays you get everything from lip-stick to kitchenette gin.

A woman keeps a man amused in hopes that he will be amused to keep her.

So your wife has another baby, Mr. Rabbits? Boy or girl?
Girl, sir.

And your other little one is of the contrary sex, I believe?
Yes, sir. Another girl.

Taken from a tombstone—
"He struck a match to see his gas, And relieve him of his fear. He was soon aware the gas was there And that is why he is here."

He—There's a mighty dark stretch of road just ahead of us; are you afraid?
She—Not if you spit out that chew of tobacco.

Daughter, how many times do you imagine Jack has kissed you?
So far, mother, I haven't had time to imagine.

Shortly after a traveling man had registered at a hotel in New York a woman walked up to the clerk and asked to be shown to his room.

"You can't", said the clerk.
"But I'm his wife," she protested.
"Not this time Madam," he replied.

"You don't seem to like your new governess?"

"No, mom," replied the little son. "I hate her; I'd like to bite her in the neck like daddy does."

Darling, we can't get married. A slick salesman sold me some oil stock and got away with every cent I had. What can I offer you?

Well, you can at least tell me where he lives.

Lt. Stephens—Why didn't you shave yourself this morning?

Rat Deason—There were four men at the mirror at the same time sir, and I shaved another man by mistake.

Him—You used to say that there was something about me that you liked.

Her—Yes, but you've spent it.

Her—What became of your other cousin?

Him—He died of a broken heart.

Her—Too bad. Did his girl leave him in a lurch?

Him—No, a mule kicked him in the breast.

If January doesn't make February March April May.

Who can answer this one?
What did moths live on before Adam and Eve wore clothes?

The difference between a financial failure and puppy-love is that the former is a bank rupture and the latter is bunk-rapture.

One advantage a bachelor has over a married man, he can put his socks on from either end.

Say, Bud, what are you doing with that camera in your bed?

Oh, when I eat sweets I always dream about a harem and I want to take a couple of snapshots.

Henderson came home unexpectedly one day, and found his wife in the arms of another man. He immediately drew his pistol and shot her.

"Why did you kill your wife instead of the other man?", asked the Judge.

"I'd rather kill one woman than be obliged to kill a man every day."

A Turk has but to say "I divorce you" three times to his wife and he is divorced.

An American has but to murder "Phyllis" once, and if his wife's name happens to be Ethel—he's got the Turk beaten to a frazzle.

Lucille—Why did you cut the sleeves out of your coat?

Margaret—So I could put it on without taking my magazine out of my hands.

Does your husband snore?
I don't know. You see we were only married a week when he got killed by an automobile.

Her—And will you love me as much as this when we are married?

Him—How can you doubt me? I've always liked married women best.

First—Have any of your family connections ever been traced?

Second—Yes, an uncle of mine was traced as far as Canada once.

Visitor—I must say that your daughter has improved a lot in her playing since the last time I was here.

Lucille—I'm not playing. I'm dusting the piano.

Why did you stop singing in the choir?

Because one day I didn't sing and someone asked if the organ had been fixed.

Middleton—Great Heavens, where did you get that scar?

Tom—Poker.

Middleton—Cheating?

Tom—No, flirting with the cook.

Her—Will your people be surprised when you graduate?

Sherrard—No, they have been expecting it for several years.

If I were in your condition I'd shoot myself.

Lady, if you were in my condition, you'd mish.

What's a "hoosit", Trena?

Oh, a bell rings; you put a thing to your ear and say Hello, and someone says 'Hello'; and you say "hoosit".

If it weren't for engine trouble some parlors never would be used.

O—I heard your party was all wet.

Kay—Yeah, the music got so hot that it started the automatic sphinkler to working.

Jack said he would kiss me or die in the attempt.

Gracious. Did he kiss you?

You haven't seen any funeral notices, have you?

I wish I was a powder puff, Upon my lady's dresser Then every time she'd daub her mug

Hot Pups! How I'd caress her.

Is your flaming sweetie the girl in the bright red dress?
Yeh, that's my sweetie, why? Well, I just saw her having fire drill in a coupe with some other guy.

How did you get the shiner?
Got it in a guessing game. Guessing game?

Yes, my wife called up and said, "Guess who this is, darling."

Helen: I am so sorry for Jim. Edith is angry with him.

Sue: Serves him right for slapping a girl who was so terribly sunburned.

Helen: Well, how was he to know she was sunburned there?

VESPER SERVICES

Sunday evening, Feb. 2, Mr. Roy Cooper gave a very interesting and inspiring talk at the Vesper service in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A.

Preceding his talk a selection was rendered by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. Following this a number of selections were sung by the Baptist choir including a duet and a quartet. The former by Cadets F. H. Hendricks and F. R. Smith, and the latter by W. C. Crain, F. H. Hendricks, R. N. Smith and Seawright.

Mr. Roy Cooper then rendered a talk on "The Greatness of God's Love." He brought out the fact of the visible manifestation of God and how His love is shown in nature. He also stated that God's love is shown to us through friendships, love for our fellow man and love for God.

The meeting was closed by a word of prayer by the speaker.

THE FRESHMAN COUNCIL

The Freshman Council held its regular weekly meeting in the Ladies Club room at the "Y" Thursday evening Jan. 30 with Mr. B. O. Williams as the speaker.

The meeting was opened with a devotional led by Cadet J. C. Patrick. Mr. B. O. Williams gave a very interesting, instructive and inspiring talk on "Getting the Most Out of College." In his talk Mr. Williams emphasized three main topics. First "Why Come to College" and the next thing a Freshman should consider is "Using College to Advantage," then the third topic is "The College-Trained Man". After stressing these points he pointed out to the Council the value and the opportunities of the college trained man. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the talk and keen interest was shown throughout the program.

At the close of the hour Mr. Williams gave the Council Members an outline of his talk then Mr. P. B. Holtzendorff offered the closing prayer.

PROF. RHODES SPEAKS

TO SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

Prof. S. R. Rhodes spoke to the Sophomore Council at their weekly meeting in the "Y" Club room at seven o'clock Tuesday evening, January 28.

A short business session was held before the main feature of the program. The topic of Prof. Rhode talk was "The Human Element in Engineering". Among the points he mentioned as essentials for success in engineering was the art of getting along with people. Prof. Rhodes used interesting illustrations of the "Human Element" in the large electric companies to show what an important factor it is to get along with people.

This talk was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present and Prof. Rhodes will be welcomed heartily if he should like to be with the Council again.

The meeting was dismissed by a chain of sentence prayers.

JUNIOR COUNCIL HEARS

THE REV. CROUCH

The regular weekly meeting of the Junior Council was held in the Club room of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening January 28th.

The Council members were very fortunate in having the Reverend S. J. L. Crouch speak to them on the subject "What Does Religion Mean to the College Man."

After Rev. Crouch's talk the cadets asked him a number of questions about various problems which confront the college man of today.

When this was over refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. The group was then dismissed with a word of prayer.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES

PALMETTO LITERARY SOCIETY

The Palmetto Literary Society held its first meeting of the third term on Thursday night, Jan. 30, 1930. The attendance was unusually gratifying, and seemed to point to success in the new term. Optimism over the future of the society prevailed and the earnestness and sincerity exhibited by the members promises excellent work for the next semester.

As this was the regular time for the election of new officers no program was rendered. After the president called the meeting to order, the chaplain led in the opening prayer. The secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the preceding meeting. As there were no other matters of importance to be attended to, nominations for new officers were in order. The elections were held in all seriousness and went through without a catch. The voting was spirited, and all the elections were closely contested. A humorous side was imparted to the meeting by the "rats" campaign speeches in support of their nominees for Sergeant-at-arm.

The officers elected for the next term were:

President—J. A. Yeargin
Vice-President—G. H. Wise.
Recording Secretary—O. H. Green
Cor. Secretary—D. C. Hudgens.
Literary Critic—J. O. Rowell
Treasurer—F. W. Cannon
Chaplain—W. W. Friday
Parliamentarian—L. O. Clayton
Sergeant-at-Arms—B. M. Vaughn

The meeting was adjourned immediately upon the conclusion of the elections.

A. S. M. E.

A special meeting of the A. S. M. E. was called Tuesday night, Jan. 25, 1930, for the purpose of discussing several important matters. The president, L. T. Leitner, presided. Plans for a joint meeting with the Greenville Chapter of the A. C. M. E. were discussed. It was decided that the meeting will take place sometime in May. The offer by the Greenville Chapter of a prize of $25 for the best paper on some representative subject was announced. Several members immediately signified their intentions to compete for this liberal prize. As there was no program the society adjourned after a very short session.

EXCHANGE

Honor is the key word at the University of Virginia where a co-operative store is operated with no clerks in charge—students serving themselves, ringing up their own purchases and making their own change. So supreme is the spirit of honor on the campus that there has been only one violation of the rule since the inauguration of the system several years ago.

We wonder how Ike "jews" down the cash register.

No More Bumming

Bumming, the national collegiate pastime during the past decade, is no more for University of Georgia students, at least not within the city limits of this college town.

A new ordinance went into effect here January 1, providing a penalty of twenty-five dollars and costs for any person who in any way indicates to a passing motorist that a free ride would be acceptable.

SECTION 27 REMAINS INTACT FOUR YEARS

Group That Was Christened
The Aeroplane Section Has Continued to Fly High

Back in the good old days, when the present seniors were "Rats", there was a group of so-called "bright engineers" banded together under the title of Section 27, Freshmen. This "Aeroplane Section", as Prof. Lane would say, took off on a non-stop flight through Clemson with a gilt-edged diploma as its goal.

Some of the boys in this old freshman section were successful and now have a strangle hold on their diplomas, while a very few were not as successful and have dropped by the wayside. It is interesting to note that while the class as a whole has dwindled to less than half of its original size, this group of the first men in the class at that time has remained nearly intact throughout the past four years.

There were twenty-two men enrolled in the original section, all of whom were chosen with their first semester grades as a basis. Of this number there are eighteen still at Clemson and all of them will graduate in June. One man will receive his diploma in Electrical Engineering at Carolina this year, another was taken away by death during his junior year and only two of the twenty-two have failed to keep up the pace as set by their classmates.

The original section roll and the course each man is following is: J. D. Bell, E. E. (U. of S. C. '30) J. J. Butler, E. E.; E. C. Byrd, E. E.; W. D. Craig, E. E.; H. W. Dorset, E. E.; P. S. Finn, C. E.; M. T. Geddings, E. E. and M. E.; J. A. Graves, E. E.; R. G. Hodges, C. E.; W. F. Hughes, M. E.; L. T. Leitner, E. E. and M. E.; A. R. Martin, F. Y. Mercer, M. E.; C. Q. Murray, J. M. Prim, E. E.; G. W. Sackman, E. E.; J. C. Sease, C. E.; W. C. Snyder, E. E.; L. P. Thomas, C. E.; J. R. Welch, E. E.; J. F. Wood, and J. A. Yeargin, C. E.

It is also of interest to note that by virtue of their scholastic records, thirteen of these men have been honored by being chosen to become members of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity.

22 MEN RECEIVE ATHLETIC AWARD

Football Letters Given To Varsity Men Last Tuesday

The following members of the 1929 football squad received the coveted Block "C" for service rendered during the past season:

Gresham, Dyess, Swofford, Gun-nells, Gassaway, Magill, Seigle, Yarbrough, Jones, Fordham, Woodruff, Asbill, "Crip" Fleming, Capt. Padgett, Salley, McCarley, Harvin, Justus, "Johnnie" Rogers, McMillan, Bowles and Manager Meetze.

Besides the above men there were four other letters awarded to men who were unable to receive them because of failures in work or absence from school at the present time.

TIGER PUGS DEFEAT MISSISSIPPI AGGIES

Last Friday night at Mississippi, Clemson's knockout knights captained by Johnny Rodgers took into camp the Mississippi Aggies by winning five of the seven scheduled bouts. The first bout was a draw. In an unofficial bout, Culp for Clemson won in three rounds over his opponent.

After slamming away for three rounds, Rodgers fought his way to a draw in the fourth. In the bantam socking contest, Comer lost to his Aggie opponent. Gassaway, Tiger lightweight, won the next bout on a forfeit. Following this example, Gantt straddled his way through the ropes and soloed his fight to win the welter-weight scrap for Clemson. Continuing in this strain, Big Gun Cannon in the middleweight fracas embellished his Mississippi foe to a standstill. He won. Then Tar Baby Torchia blew up the roundhouse and slaughtered Wild Man Rochelle in the lightheavy class. A K. O. in the third round featured this fourth straight win for the Tigers. Came Seigel, Clemson's heavy, and another win in the third round for the pugs.

Army Man finds Tobacco "Like Old Friend"

U. S. Army

Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

Speaking of champion long-time members of the EDGEWORTH Club, say:—it isn't how long you have smoked Edgeworth, it's how well you have enjoyed the smoke.

Why, I have walked out of many a store, especially when traveling, to stop at some one-horse town and buy Edgeworth. A good pipe deserves Edgeworth, and Edgeworth mine gets. I would not insult it with any other.

"The familiar blue cans are everywhere," and usually you find men of taste carrying them, which proves it is not the price that determines a good "smoky" tobacco, but the care and method that produce it.

I would rather go days without Edgeworth and at the end draw a deep inhale of that cool "smelly" aroma, satisfying to the last puff, than punish my throat and lungs and nostrils with inferior grades.

Edgeworth is "The Smoke With a Personality," like an old friend, you learn to know and understand, and when troubled or when you have a "thinky" problem—you seek its solace and companionship.

Very truly yours,
(signed) E. H. Fulmer

Over the Horizon

HERE they come—the nucleus of an all-electric merchant marine. Yesterday, they were a dream. To-day, they are well over the horizon, linking the ports of the east and west coasts with fortnightly service. The goal of the Panama Pacific Line is to build three more turbine-electric ships, thus enabling weekly New York-Frisco sailings.

Even now, the three liners, California, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, constitute the largest fleet of turbine-electric commercial ships in the world.

Besides propelling these ships, electricity hoists freight, raises anchors, mans pumps, turns rudders, drives winches, and warps the vessels into their berths. It lights lamps, spins fans, operates elevators, cools and cooks food. Its magic touch is apparent on every deck.

All electric equipment, above and below deck, is a product of General Electric.

The planning, production, and distribution of such equipment has been largely the responsibility of college-trained men who are working with General Electric and who have aided in bringing these ships over the horizon.

SPORTS

TIGERS WIN TWO, LOSE ONE

SPORTS

In the colorful phraseology of that fickle goddess, Luck, from now on read 'em and weep! Any casual introductions by this column in its new reime will be accompanied by a certain amount of wailing and gnashing of teeth anyhow. So here goes!

It's a dirty Irish trick the way these cavaliers from the blue grass region of pretty ladies and govenment distilleries bring rain wherever they journey! No sooner than their arrival Sunday than a previously clear sky clouded up and a drizzle set in later in the evening. However, rain always promises a prosperous season ahead—for the farmers.

Dibbling and dabbling through the past week one noticed several things. Prominent among these was the cheering at the basketball games. It seems peculiarly a Tiger habit to bide a time when Clemson is setting the pace. But it's a different noise when the visitors close the gap too close for comfort. Pandemonium at a dynamited boiler factory is child's prattle compared to the deluge of sound that revebrates from thefield house walls when the score happens to be different by only two or three points. Probably the intensity of this is attained only by hoarding lung power through the safe moments of the game. What ever it is it sure is a fact to talk about.

Usually the months between king football as played and as will be played are mrked down in sports as devoid of interest. Basketball, boxing, track, tennis, swimming, and baseball heretofore attracted only theloyal. But all that is changed around here now. Formerly sportswriters indulged only in reminiscences of the past sea-cleats, headgear, and other paraphenalia were again donned. Now they trek from one contest to another no matter what it might be. Methinks that the type of teams that Clemson and others turn out is a big factor in this new interest. The mob is becoming educated to the flashiness of good basketball, and it is thrilled to the proverbial pink at tehbloody bouts that the pugs rap out. It's all the fashion to know something about sports now. People don't want to get caught in another Carnegie Foundation predicament. Half of them could not fathom what it was all about. True, it ws startling to an ingorant world- But is was embarrassing when one glanced at the faces turned toward himself at his lack of knowledge concerning the Carnegie report. No, no one wishes to be fefficient in any sports news. And to kno wspots—go to 'em. Perhaps that will account for this present enthusiasm, no?

Perhaps it's a little early in the season to talk about the tournament in Atlanta next month, still the subject affords ample food for thought at the Tigers bowl over opponent after opponent. They sufficiently demonstrated their wares last Friday night against Vanderbilt to prove that Clemson's five boasts of no mean running attack. Their impregnable defense has already attracted the wise boys. Added to their playing ability, Clemson fo rthe past two years has proved to be the dark horse at the tourney. And the Tigers seem to always play their best down in Atlanta.

Doodle Thomas has up and set the pace for the conference scoring constellation to such a degree that all the coaches put their prize pupils on the trail of Clemson's diminutive forward. Vanderbilt in the game the other night placed Donald Crow to stalk Doodle's every move. And in a measurer they failed to stop him. By the way could this Cram be the same Donald Cram that is the Souths' ranking junior tennis champ?

Still ruminating in the same vein, namely basketball we face our old foe down in Columbia Friday night. Carolina has not come up to pre-season predictions in her showing, yet nothing could leaven their season more than to defeat Clemson. However, that remains to be seen. Nothing short of famine and disease can tay the Tigers in any contest with the Gamecock, and this will be no exception!

Friday night the Tiger pugs added to their string by battering out a win over the fighters from ole Miss. From what they have so far accomplished, coach Guyon's proteges are traveling at a fast pace. And no wonder. Before long it'll take a powerful lot of pounding to stop 'em.

The Tiger could not go to press without comment on the Kentucky basketball game. That blue and white outfit exhibited so much flash that they seemed to be an authentic blue streak. They sure streaked up our play house, anyhow. But we had our dazzle too. Doodle Thomas played havoc with their tip-off system and paldynisgreRDLU off system and played rings around his guarding angels to ring up as many as any of 'em. He's little, but the other fellow doesn't think so! What with all the favorable attention that he is attracting, Doodle wishes they would not put so many fellows on his trail. As soon as he gets his fingers on the ball, two or three of his foes roar down on him at the same time. We won't say much, just this: They'll have to grow tall down at Atlanta to stop him.

In a game that displayed a few flashes of real good basketball, the Richmond Academy five from Augusta, defeated the Tiger cubs 31 to 21 here in the new field house Friday night. The game was slow with little team-work offered by either team. Few points were rung up in the first half, bu in teh latter part of the game Richmond opened up and steadily began to draw away from the rats. Wynn for the visitors was high scorer with 15 points. "Footsie" Davis for the rats appeared as the big boy for the Bengal freshmen.

CLEMSON VANQUISHED BY KENTUCKY QUINT

Fleet Blue and White Basket-
teers Defeat Tigers 30 to 20

Flashing the most brilliant offense and most dogged defense seen on the new Tiger court this year the fighting Wildcats from the Blue Hills of Kentucky outsmarted a desperate Tiger quint to win Monday night, 34 to 20.

From start to finish they were ever on the aggressive and with the exception of fractional moments in the first half, when "Doodle" Thomas found the range and opened fire with deadly accuracy, they were always in the lead.

The constant precision of play displayed by the Bengals in other engagements thus far was lacking. The Tigers just didn't seem to be able to get started. They seemed nervously tense under the constant watchfulness of the Wildcat aggregation and lost many opportunities to score by bad passing and faulty shooting.

Meanwhile, Capt. McBrayer, Spicer, and Milward weaved in and out among the Tiger defenders in clever fashion to score repeatedly.

Bob Jones failed to click correctly, but the diminutive "Doodle" Thomas was his old old self and added nine points to his total besides playing his usual floor game. Cram was off his game also, but was evidently bothered by an injured ankle sustained on the slippery floor.

Nothing but words of praise are due the conquerors for they presented as clever an aggregation as anyone would wish to see.

WRESTLING STARTED AS TIGER SPORT

Intramural Grappling to be Started at Once

Athletic Director, James G. Gee, has issued a call for all wrestlers and would-be wrestlers to report to the New Gymnasium every afternoon at four o'clock to receive training under the capable supervision of Prof. F. S. Andrews, who has recently been selected as wrestling coach.

Coach Gee's plan is to introduce intramural wrestling this year and to develop material for an intercollegiate team next year. This plan of development is not new here since Coach Gee uncovered his boxing material the same way. Clemson had the first intercollegiate team in this state and this team as hatched from the regimental material. Mutt proved to be a very good setting hen for this brood and we hope he has equal success with his strong-man outfit.

The part the Cadet Corps plays in doing this is an important one. It is hoped that at least three teams will be had from each battalion and if possible a team from each company. It is not necessary to be a man of gigantic proportions and brute strength because a weight is provided for men from the infinitesimal minuteness of Rat Deason to the towering bulk of the Terrible Seigle. Coach Andrews may be quoted as saying that "skill wins over brawn 80 percent of the time."

The divisions are as follows: Bantam, 115 lbs; Feather 125 lbs; Light, 135 lbs; Welter, 145 lbs; Middle, 160 lbs; Light Heavy, 175 lbs; and Heavy, over 175 lbs. If you weigh somewhere between any two of these, you wrestle in the highest.

Training every afternoon, the company, battalion and regimental fights with the possibility of a meet with another school at the end of the season is quite a brilliant outlook for those who have the necessary intestinal staunchness to stick it out with Coach Andrews. It might also be mentioned that suitable rewards will be made to those who come out on top in the regimental bouts. These winners will be proclaimed regimental champions in their respective weights.

A man doesn't know what hard luck is until he buys a new suit with two pair of pants and then burns a hole in the coat.

By adding a tapered end, you convert your Duofold Pocket Pen to a Desk Pen in 10 seconds. By removing the taper and putting on the Pocket Cap you restore it to a Pocket Duofold on leaving office or home.

Thus every owner of a Parker Pocket Pen owns half a Desk Set. Getting a Desk Base completes it. We now include pen taper free with that.

And to every buyer of a Parker Desk Set, we now give a Pocket Cap with Clip. Thus his Desk Pen is also a Pocket Pen—like 2 Pens for the price of one Set. Be sure to ask for the Pocket Cap with your Desk Set.

Parker's new streamlined Duofold Pens (and Pencils to match) set lower in the pocket than others because the clip starts at the top—not halfway down the cap. This smart, balanced shape feels "at home" in the hand—and writes with our famous 47th improvement—Pressureless Touch.
